SEASON 2012 KICKS OFF WITH 4 METERS OF SNOW MEASURED ON THE RUITOR!

We hit the skies with gusto on the 28th of December and again the 3rd of January when blessed with clear skies and amazing snow, we kicked off our 2012 season.

We began the pre season with a wonderful guide training day to review the latest advancements and update our avalanche rescue procedure, perform a series of in depth snow profiling on all aspect slopes and discuss several new descents.

We have officially linked with ZAG skis out of Argentiere and have some wonderful new powder skis for rent.

Bookings are filling up fast especially at the weekend and we are extremely happy to see so many of our loyal clients coming back again this year to ski with us.

Our trip to Iceland for 4 days in April is a "GO" so we will be stepping beyond and exploring the region with Arctic Heliski, JB and his crew.

CURRENT CONDITIONS

We have a good snow pack everywhere with the most accumulation we have ever seen at the Ruitor. We skied Giasson from top to bottom in beautiful powder yesterday and there is a large amount of snow arriving tomorrow. the next few weeks should be outstanding with intermittent new snowfall on the already significant base. Stability is very good and for now the wind has been kind to us!

Q & A

What is the cost savings for 5 people instead of 4 in the new helicopter?

The biggest savings is on our 4 day package with 5 people together skiing. This amounts to paying 11% less than last year on the same package.

We welcome to our office Sabine Lattion who lives and works in Orsières Switzerland!

PELLISSIER HELICOPTER

our new baby

Our Augusta Khoala helicopter has finally arrived. seating 5 passengers plus Guide and Pilot it offers amazing opportunity to increase the size of your group and still fly in total comfort.
